

Stanley Almodovar

Stanley Almodóvar III

LIFE

Stanley Almodovar III was born in Springfield, Massachusetts on June 25, 1993. He was a dedicated front administrative pharmacy technician to both Covance and Avella specialty Pharmacy in Lake Mary, Florida. His family and friends described him as the light in a dark room; and he has always made others around him smile. His father said that “My son was the life of the family, always singing, making jokes”. Stanley was at the Pulse nightclub that night to have fun and posted a video of himself singing and laughing. His life was tragically taken away that night along with 48 others. The way that Stanley Almodovar III spread his love and laughter with his family and friends will never be forgotten.

TWEET

Don't Want to be First Shot

@dwtbfirstshot

Hey Stanley! What occurred to you that night should've never happened. You were like the air for your loved ones to breathe. We all miss you dearly, and we are actively making sure that this doesn't take place again to another beautiful soul like yours.

12:00 PM · Jun 1, 2016

STATISTIC

Another senseless death.

AMENDMENT

I agree that people should have weapons to defend themselves in case of any dangerous situation. However, some people using guns have taken too many lives away too soon. I believe that everyone should have a mental health check-up when they go to the doctor's office for a physical health check-up. Firearms have great power; therefore, it would be sensible to ensure that the gun owner and their family is in a stable mindset. If the gun owners and their family are in a stable mindset, then there would be less shootings since they can control their emotions towards others.

